SOCIAL INEQUALITIES, LOCAL SOLUTIONS

Taula d'entitats del Tercer Sector Social de Catalunya

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Local solutions to face social inequalities

The data are not always real, but those of poverty unfortunately are. Again, the figures show how chronic poverty is becoming, which forces us to express actions and to give answers, especially from proximity, because who better than we social entities, who know the support that the people need and the resources of the community and the local authorities, the administrations closest to the citizens, to build local and joint solutions to social inequalities? And this is where we have precisely placed the focus this year through the 6th Third Sector Congress, where we have discussed and reflected on how to strengthen synergies between local administrations and the social sector to develop brave and determined social policies, and through the Third Sector Barometer, a tool that has allowed us to deepen the relationship established between the local administrations and the social entities.

In the fight against poverty, we also wanted to make two of its faces visible: energy poverty and the feminisation of poverty, by promoting debates and 'Social Catalonia' dossiers on the price of energy as a key factor that hinders guaranteeing the right to energy, and about single parenthood and poverty, in addition to co-organising the 2nd Catalan Congress of Energy Poverty, which has analysed the causes that aggravate this social problem.

We have been able to do all this, despite the moments of institutional blockade. The Third Sector has once again demonstrated its resilience and the social entities, faithful and committed to the public service mission, have remained alongside the people. A good reason for collective pride.
